GENERAL NEWS.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN

The Storm on the Plains

CHEYENNE, March 9—A storm exceeding in violence and duration any previous season began at 12 P. M. the 7th inst continuing without abatement until noon to day the wind ranging in velocity from 50 to 64 miles per hour, carrying the snow with it and drifting it in banks ten to fifteen feet high In the city for only one roof has given away from Butter creek on the west to Lodge pole on the east. A great number of cuts are level full of snow, and all trains on the Union Pacific, Denver Pacific and Colorado Central are either sidetracked or stalled. The plows stationed here have been in constant use, and to morrow morning will be shoveled out, and to morrow morning does not increase, they will be vigorously pushed. Passenger trains No 4 of the 6th, and 9th, are lying at North Platte No 5 at Cheyenne, Freight train No 6, reached Separation and the engine was snowed in at Separation and the engine and tender westbound of yesterday near Bushnell Station on the Denver Pacific train is sidetracked at Hillrose, and the Colorado Central between Colorado and Loveland. No reliable evidence of the storm having been lost in the snow in the vicinity, though there are many rumors to that effect. No communication north of Cheyenne. Many freight outfits are now standing, and probably the loss of stock will be great, if not of life.

Trains Blockaded.

CHEYENNE, March 10.—The Union Pacific is still blockaded by snow. The western divi- sion is open east of Sydney Nothing has arrived at Antelope westward, where number 3 has been here Friday, still remains there relief. Several hundred men with engines together with a number of plows, have been engaged to-day between Sydney and Laramie in the endeavor to lift the block The heaviest plow on the road left this morning, but stuck at Tie Siding in some cuts, is packed very hard and drifts which left here eastward at 7 A M have not made much progress, returning here The Colorado Central train is at Taylor's station 18 miles south, with the plow in the cut while the Denver Pacific, 10 miles to is in similar predicament. Relief started from the south for both these No news from the north yet Reports from Colorado say the Kansas Pacific is blocked, wrecking a train in the ditch near Ellis.

The Storm Abating.

CHEYENNE, March 10.—The snow storm on the line of the Union Pacific, from Julesburg to Cheyenne, is abating so that men can work on the track. It is expected that if the storm does not rise again that the track will be clear to-morrow evening so that trains can run. Trains are leaving Omaha regularly on the east.

Reported Loss of Cattle.

It is reported that a large number of cattle have been driven into Platte river by the recent storm, in consequence of cold and the report, however, is exaggerated, as has been ascertained that very few have died.

Buried in the Snow.

Thomas Ford, of Co D, 5th Cavalry, while driving stock, was driven into a canyon near Camp Robinson and covered by 20 feet of snow. Efforts made by comrades and citizens to rescue him have not yet proved successful. Stage between Cheyenne and Archer is stopped.

Vanderbilt Will Case.

NEW YORK, March 3—Dr. Bennett, one of the witnesses in the Vanderbilt will case, to-day, before the surrogate, testified that the deceased told him he had a vision in which he saw a road, shaked like a horse shoe, and in the near death. He saw several of his children, walk along and drop off, but he would come back to the edge, and that he was walking along the edge and did not know whether he would drop off He told the witness he was a clairvoyant and proved it to him by sending a lock of hair which he proved by witness that Mrs. Vanderbilt said, "The old man must die I will not live half any longer," but it was not believed. The commodore sat up to read a newspaper, and witness suggested to him that he had enough to think of his family, but he got into a furious rage and said "To hell with them; they are all bastards and I'll die and leave $50,000."

A Reverend Wife Poisoner.

NEW YORK, March 9.—Rev. George B Vosburgh, pastor of the Madison avenue Baptist church, Brooklyn Heights, was to day arrested charged with attempting to poison his wife. Yesterday he waived a preliminary examination and was held in $1,000 to await the action of the Grand Jury.

NEW YORK, March 9.—Henry Schmidt was arrested for poisoning his wife and child by means of arsenic put in coffee and cake. The child died of the effects. Schmidt declared that he had no intent to kill, but the indications are strong against him. The Question for the Congress

A Vienna correspondent confirms the reports that Count Andrassy yesterday told the Hungarian delegation that the government had no intention to annex or occupy Bosnia and Herzegovina and that the powers had now accepted the proposal for a congress at Berlin France however has also expressed a wish that the congress be confined to the eastern question This wish arises from fear that congress may claim the right to sanction all recent territorial changes There is little doubt that France will receive reassurance

Prince Auersperg stated in the reichrath to day that every question but the Eastern question would be excluded from the scope of the congress England also although accepting the congress seems averse to the introduction of questions not directly raised by the war such as the Greek question the final settlement of which is to yet imperative

All the other powers being ready to accept any date of meeting, the only question is will Russia accept that proposed towards the end of the month Russia's answer is expected to-morrow and when it arrives the date will be fixed The Berlin government will issue formal invitations

Another correspondent at Vienna is fully persuaded that the votes will pass the delegations within a week.

PERTINENT SUGGESTIONS

MULTUM IN PARVO FOR GREENBACKERS—QUESTIONS FOR THE LIBERATORS TO STUMBLE OVER

SALEM March 9 1878

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The greenback demagogues are in a rage because U S bonds and greenbacks are not taxable Yet they would have the $300 000 000 of national bank notes which are taxable called in and a like amount of treasury notes or greenbacks which are taxable issued in their stead In fact they would have the national debt paid in or exchanged at once for treasury notes and then there would be none but non taxable money in the country.

The government last year sold hundreds of millions of four per cent bonds If they were taxable by local and municipal authority how many would have been sold at home The levies here in Oregon for instance for all purposes amount to about four per cent per annum How many four per cent taxable bonds would be purchased by our citizens The greenback orators and writers are probably the only persons who would buy them and they would not be likely to many as the government would desire to sell

MONDAY MORNING, MARCH 11, 1878.

THE NEXT THING.

"Now that the silver bill has become a law," says the Salem Mercury, "the next business in order will be the repeal of the resumption act, and our brave leader in the senate, Voorhees, has announced this as his programme, and he will make an earnest endeavor for the success of this measure as he did for the silver bill, and we trust with as favorable result." This avowal, which is now made by many of those who favored the proposition for renewal of silver coinage is inconsistent with their professions, though not with their real purposes. They said when supporting the silver bill that they wanted it mainly to help and hasten resumption. This was their best argument. It would "break the corner in gold," and resumption then would become possible. Gold and silver would be equalized; the equilibrium so greatly disturbed during the last few years, would be restored, and with silver as an auxiliary of the coin circulation or reserve of the country, resumption would be reached by January next, as provided by the act to that effect. It was claimed that it would be resumption in gold and silver together, for resumption in gold alone was impossible. With many this was plausible. But it was easy to see that the argument did not set forth the real wishes and purposes of those who were employing it. They wanted cheaper money than gold, or greenbacks based on gold. What they desired was opportunity to pay debts in a way that would cause a loss to creditors and give debtors "relief." This was what was meant by the "option of paying in silver." Finding that the result sought is not gained through the silver bill, and that it will be a long time before silver can be coined in sufficient abundance to provide a currency much cheaper than gold, they now resume theory for repeal of the resumption act, and for paper inflation.

If the resumption act is to be repealed then the silver bill just enacted should be repealed also. Of course the country doesn't want metallic money, if it is going to postpone resumption. They who contended so fiercely for the silver bill cannot, with any decent appearance of consistency, advocate repeal of the resumption act. The logic of the silver bill is resumption in silver. But hardly has the bill gone into effect before there is an effort to nullify it, to postpone for an indefinite period resumption, even in silver, and continue an irredeemable paper currency. The cranks and dreamers and people desperately in debt want cheap dollars. Many who are under obligations to pay dollars want to pay only municipal dollars. It would suit them if the dollars were worth but ten cents apiece. Others muddled with the idea that whatever rises by the name of a dollar is a dollar, and that the act of government can make a piece of paper or leather a thing of value, not merely representing whatever sum government stamps upon it, but actually that sum itself. Even silver isn't up enough; it is in the hands of a few, and is not "the money of the people." But by paper the people may be emancipated. As one of the chief inflation organs, the Cincinnati Enquirer, puts it, "one of the great qualities of greenbacks is that they are cash and are the people's money." What great hold these fallacies have taken is indicated by the fact that newspapers ranked among the great journals of the country are using this puling jargon. "Costless money" is the absurdest of all contradictions. The only function money can have is performed through the reality of cost, worth or value; and the best money always is that which costs most. Costless money and worthless money or anything else.

All the organs which are demanding that the resumption act be repealed are greatly excited because bonds and greenbacks are not gone from taxation. Here is another curious instance of inconsiderate folly. Since greenbacks are so privileged let us be rid of them by enforcing the resumption act and retiring them as fast as we can. The greenback advocates say it is a great evil that greenbacks should be exempt from taxation; yet they would aggravate and perpetuate that evil by issuing more greenbacks, and by postponing indefinitely or forever the day of their redemption.

A RADICAL CHANGE.

A bill recently introduced in congress "to provide for a more economic and accurate survey of the public lands," which proposes to abolish the offices of all surveyors-general in states and territories and create the office of surveyor general of the United States at Washington, has heretofore received some notice. We have now the full text of the bill. It requires a different and more thorough classification of lands than has been made heretofore, placing in the first class all lands available for agricultural purposes without irrigation; in the second lands which may be redeemed by irrigation; in the third timber lands of the arid regions; in the fourth arid lands fit only for pasturage, and in the fifth mineral lands. Surveys are to be directed from the office at Washington. It is stated that the main object of the bill is to prevent the surveys from being made in places where not needed or where the lands are worthless, mainly for the purpose of giving jobs to favorites; to remove the business from the powerful influence of large corporations and to reduce a branch of the service from a charge of being an instrument of politicians and speculators. The bill if pushed, no doubt will encounter much opposition; because the representatives of each state and territory specially affected by it would be contrary to the interests and convenience of the people to abolish the local offices and transfer the business to Washington; though for that matter under the present system the business is supposed to be virtually managed there.

TURKEY AND THE CONFERENCE.

Before the late war began the debt of Turkey was $1,155,000,000. The revenue for 1876 was $35,631,760, and the expenditure was $115,716,880. Thus while the empire was at peace its income was too short for its extravagance by about twenty millions dollars a year. The war has, of course, added much to the debt, but perhaps not so much as might be supposed, because no foreign country would lend the porte anything, and forced loans on its own subjects were its main resource. It carried on the war almost without money, and under these trying circumstances made a creditable resistance. It now has to carry an augmented national debt, while its resources are diminished to the extent of the great tribute heretofore paid by the provinces now lost. Up to this time Turkey has been considered a formidable military power, though not one of the great powers. Henceforward her extreme weakness may be a better protection against the aggression of a powerful foe than the strength she has been able to muster, which gave some appearance of an ability to take care of herself. But Turkey is left in wretched plight by the war. The conference looks little like anything else than a proceeding to administer on the sick man's small remaining estate.

We must own that at last our very enterprising neighbor, the Standard, has an advantage. It claims that on Saturday last it contained "about twice the amount of telegraphic news published in THE OREGONIAN." It is even true; for it had the news we published the day before, and owing to the fact that the eastern lines were broken by Friday's storms near Cheyenne nothing from the east got through that night, and all the papers on the Pacific coast, except such journals as our sprightly contemporary, the Standard, which had the telegrams of the day before to fall back on, were almost without eastern news on Saturday. Pet one for the Standard. It is becoming facetious, as well as enterprising.

It is claimed that the lowest altitude yet discovered for a railway route across the Rocky mountains has been found by a party connected with the Canadian Pacific railway survey. It is called the Pine river pass. The waters of Fraser river are on one side of the range and those of Peace river which flows north and east to the Mackenzie, are on the other. The pass referred to, formed by a stream on either side, is found to have an elevation of but 2,430 feet above the level of the sea. A Victoria paper calls the discovery "the true key to the Pacific coast," and speculates upon it as opening the future route of the Chinese trade.

Heavy offers of silver are being made to the secretary of the treasury at a price which gives the government a profit of eight cents on the dollar; and the price is likely to drop even lower. Government makes now, but will begin to lose when the coinage becomes sufficiently large to cause the dollar to drop to the level of silver bullion. So enormous is the world's supply of silver that the amount to be used for our coinage makes no impression on the price. In fact the tendency of silver is downward, right in the face of this act of ours which was to carry it up to the level of gold.

A meeting is called for to-morrow night at the court house of those who propose to insist that "any railroad assisted by congress shall commence building at Portland." That would be a proper and natural thing for landowners here to insist upon if the circumstances justified a belief that it was practicable. But there are a great many landowners who, because they know that under present conditions it can't be done, decline to waste time and words by insisting upon it.

A Washington correspondent distinctly asserts that on the night of the passage of the silver bill sixteen senators were disgracefully drunk. He says he could give their names and he would.

The Albany Democrat essays a paragraph of criticism on THE OREGONIAN for its opposition to silver money. Go your ways, Democrat, if you are looking for better money than gold. We are not.

No Bargain; Only a Little Understanding between Gentlemen.

[From the Cleveland Herald.]

Gov. Nicholls made a distinct pledge to the president's commission that no Republican should be prosecuted for anything done in connection with the election of 1876 or the return and count of the votes. The commission assured him in return that there would be no prosecution of Democrats in the federal courts for violation of the enforcement act. There was no bargain, but a plain understanding between honorable gentlemen. The writer of this article was in New Orleans during the stay of the commission last spring, and was in friendly relations with both the Nichollsites and the Packard people, and with the members of the commission. He thinks he may modestly claim to know something on this subject.

Where Will They get Their Money Next Time?

[From the Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution.]

Gus. Belmont, the foreign goldbug who brought the Democratic party to grief in two successive campaigns, has written another letter abusing Hendricks' position on the silver question. If Gus. would take off his earrings he would probably feel better.

Claiborne F. Jackson, once governor of Missouri, married five sisters. When he went to ask for the last one his venerable father-in-law replied in "Yes, Calib, you can have her. You have got them all—but for goodness' sake don't ask me for the old woman!"

CITY.

A TEST CONCERT.—Mr. Jesse Shepard, the phenomenal pianist and vocalist, gave a special invitation to several members of the press and other gentlemen to attend a private concert last evening at the residence of Dr. C. M. Wood, corner of Third and Morrison streets. Statements have been made in one of the evening papers that Mr. Shepard used certain instruments and mechanical appliances to aid him in producing some of his marvelous vocal and instrumental effects, and many persons not being able to understand or explain to their own satisfaction how these things were accomplished, share a similar belief. It was for the express purpose of demonstrating beyond further and future question that he employed nothing whatever but his hands and natural voice that the private concert was given. Before it Mr. Shepard stated to the company that he would sing and play in their presence in a well lighted room. He said that nothing should be hidden or invested with mystery; and that they could all stand around the piano and watch every movement he made, and convince themselves that neither instruments nor appliances of any kind were used. This he proceeded to do. Some of the more skeptical, however, examined the piano carefully before he began to play, and satisfied themselves that he used nothing but the single instrument. Several even insisted upon opening his mouth to determine whether or not the wonderful compass of his voice was natural. After all the parties were satisfied, Mr. Shepard proceeded to play and sing. The lights were turned on brightly, so that there could be no deception. His every movement was scrutinized closely, but still the spectators were as much mystified as ever. No artificial means could possibly have been employed without discovery. In no particular whatever, were Mr. Shepard's efforts less brilliant and unaccountable than on preceding occasions when he appeared in public with the room darkened. We have no disposition to become Mr. Shepard's champion, and only state this as a simple matter of justice to that gentleman, inasmuch as he has been accused of imposing upon and deceiving the public. During the evening a well-known young gentleman of this city entertained the company for a short time by singing, and playing on the piano in imitation of Mr. Shepard. Although the young man has never received the slightest musical education, he gave such exhibitions of his skill as were remarkable, to say the least. We expect to hear more of his astonishing developments soon.

LARCENY OF A COAT.—One evening last week a discharged soldier, who was stopping at the St. Louis Hotel, having occasion to go out and wash, just before supper, pulled off his coat and hung it up in the hallway existing to the room. When the ex-soldier finished washing he returned to put on his coat. To his surprise he found it gone. Search was made for the missing article, but it could not be discovered nowhere. Complaint was lodged at the police station, and a description of the coat given. The ex-soldier said that he had $4 war in one of the pockets, also quite a number of valuable papers, Discharge and other highly prized papers. Several days' search was made for the coat without success. Inquiry was made at the pawnbroker shops and second-hand clothing stores, but no traces could be discovered of the missing property. Officer Ryan on Saturday saw a man who was wearing a coat which exactly corresponded with the one belonging to the ex-soldier. The resemblance indeed was so very close that Ryan felt justified in arresting the person. He took him to the station, and inspecting the pockets, found the papers described by the owner. It is hardly necessary to add that the money had vanished. The person arrested gave his name as Manly Danforth. Furnishing the bail required he was released from custody. Danforth's friends claim it as there was no felonious intent on his part, that he took the coat by mistake, supposing it belonged to him. To-day the matter will be investigated.

PACIFIC COAST PATENTS.—The following list of patents has been issued to inventors of the Pacific coast: James H. Cavanagh, San Francisco, screens; John L. Held, Valejo, stop cocks for steam boilers; Emma Carter, Folsom City, bee feeding devices; Francis Hanson, Nevada City, insect and vermin fumigators; John L. Stevens and George W. Stevens, San Francisco; cases for transporting eggs.

COUNTERFEITER ARRESTED.—Gen. McLane, U. S. marshal of Minnesota, sailed on the steamer Anson yesterday, having in charge L. W. Reina, indicted by the U. S. district court of that state for manufacturing counterfeit gold coin of the denomination of five dollars. He was arrested in Idaho territory, near Spokane Falls.

Y. M. C. A.—The annual meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held at their rooms this evening at 7½ o'clock. All members of the association should be present, as officers will be elected and other business of importance transacted.

LECTURES.—Dr. Paul M. Brenan will deliver a series of five lectures at Odd Fellows' hall, in East Portland, next week, commencing on Tuesday evening, when his subject will be, "The Throne of the Mind." The first lecture will be free.

A MASTERLESS SHIP.—A dispatch has been received which states that the British ship Rodell Bay arrived at Queenstown on the 5th inst. from Astoria in charge of the boatswain, the captain and mate having died on the voyage.

SUDDEN DEATH.

Coroner DeLin was notified Saturday evening of the sudden death of a woman named Mrs. Mary Phillips at the residence of Mr. T. D. McManus on C street, between Second and Third. Mrs. Phillips resided at Milwaukie, but at the time of her death was visiting her daughter, a girl 15 years of age who is employed in the family of Mr. McManus. Her death was so sudden that it was deemed proper to notify the coroner and have the causes producing the same properly investigated.

The following jurors were summoned: S. K. Mayer, John Kennedy, G. Neimeyer, T. L. Nicklin, Chas. DuBois and R. S. Hiper.

ESTHER PHILLIPS

Testified: Age 15 years; know deceased; she was my mother; saw her alive for last time yesterday about 5 o'clock. She was sitting behind the stove near the window; heard a crash, looked around and saw her on the floor. She is subject to fits; has been so for the last two or three years; I administered some restoratives; became frightened on seeing blood issue from her mouth. She had been subject to bleeding at the lungs; has been so since she was a girl; Dr. Raffety has attended her for last year; he said she would not live long; the fits came on suddenly. Deceased is a widow; has been married twice; is 44 years of age; she has of late felt very well and has had none of these fits for last month. I think she has heart disease; never had too dropsy. Sometimes these spells occurred daily. After much exertion she would be likely to have them. Her breathing was always heavy; between these spells she was able to attend to her daily work. She did not complain of pain; she had not taken medicine for some time. Nothing occurred yesterday to excite her. She has been residing in Milwaukie for 6 or 7 years; deceased was a native of Iowa.

MRS MCMANUS

Was also called and testified substantially to the circumstances attending the death of the woman as given above.

DR. REX

Was called and testified: Am practicing physician; reside in Portland; have examined the body of the deceased, Mrs. Mary Phillips, and have heard the evidence given in regard to the circumstances of her illness and death. In my opinion she has been subject to epilepsy for some years, and her death was due to an epileptic spasm, involving the heart.

VERDICT.

The jury returned a verdict in accordance with the facts: That deceased was named Mary Phillips; that she came to her death at the residence of T. D. McManus on the 9th day of March, 1878, on C street, between Second and Third, in Portland; that her death was due to an epileptic spasm involving the heart.

The new M. E. Church is to be dedicated in a short time.

W. C. Myers is expected down in a short time with several of his fine horses.

The Daily Record is bent upon electing Dr. Hawthorne to the U. S. senate.

Superintendent Burch is inclined to think that he has nearly all the boarders that he can accommodate.

This city was visited a few nights since by a very hard hail storm accompanied by wind but did not last long.

Our public schools are now better attended than ever before. Probably next to Portland in number of attendance.

Twenty seven persons joined the First Congregational Church last Sunday. This church is getting very strong in numbers.

Politics is now becoming the subject of conversation. Quite a number of candidates for state offices are laying their plans.

The farmers in this county are now improving every hour plowing and sowing wheat. There will after all be an extensive breadth secured.

Hon. M. Wilkins, president of the Oregon State Agricultural Society, is now in town arranging some minor matters in regard to the next annual fair.

Circuit court for this county is still in session, but will get through the docket this week. The penitentiary will only be recruited by two who have already been sent out.

We had a fire alarm Sunday evening which dismissed the congregations of several churches in rather a precipitous manner. The alarm proved to be only a chimney in the old court house burning out, but came near being a serious affair. Several good suits of clothes were somewhat damaged.

A FATAL SHOT.

JOHN MORGAN, A SALOON KEEPER, SHOOTS HIMSELF THROUGH THE HEAD WITH A DERRINGER, AND IS INSTANTLY KILLED—INSANITY INDUCED BY STRONG DRINK ASSIGNED AS THE CAUSE OF THE DEED.

Saturday night about 11 o'clock, Mr. John Morgan, proprietor of the saloon at the corner of First and Oak streets, shot and instantly killed himself with a pistol. For the past week, Mr. Morgan had been drinking heavily, and for two days preceding the tragical deed, he had not been sober for scarcely an hour.

Mr. James Noonan, who is bartender at the saloon, observed that Morgan acted a little queer at times, and talked strangely. Saturday forenoon Morgan came into the saloon and conducted himself in a rather singular manner. Noonan told him he required rest; that he had better go home and get something to eat and take a sleep. Morgan finally went away and did not return to the saloon until about 6 o'clock in the evening. He came into the saloon and got up behind the bar, began to handle his pistol which was lying on the shelf. Noonan came around and taking the pistol away told him that he had better go home and rest. He went out, but returned again near 8 o'clock. However, he was prevailed upon to go home. He went home and sleeping a few hours returned to the saloon about 11 o'clock.

Soon after entering the room Morgan began to laugh and talk with a Mr. Hughes who was present, and seemed all right. Presently he went behind the bar and picking up his pistol again began to handle it. Noonan observing it, went to him and endeavored to persuade him to put it aside, telling him in a soothing way that he did not need the weapon that night and that he had better let it alone. Morgan became somewhat irritated at Noonan's interference, as he regarded it, and he pushed him rudely away, saying that he wanted nothing from him (Noonan) and for him to get out from behind the bar, at the same time muttering some other unintelligible words. Knowing that Morgan was an ugly man to cross, Noonan walked away. Before he had taken half a dozen steps the startling report of a pistol rang out on the air. Turning suddenly around he saw Morgan falling. Death was instantaneous, the pistol ball having passed clear through the head of the wretched man. When observed handling the pistol Morgan was apparently blowing in the muzzle of the weapon. The pistol was a short derringer, the bore of which was large enough to admit the end of a man's thumb. The muzzle was inserted between his teeth and discharged, the ball ranging up and back, tearing in its passage a horrible aperture, and lodged in the wall near a mirror behind the bar. The blood and brains were scattered about over the bottles and floor, presenting a most sickening spectacle. So deadly was the effect of the fatal shot, Morgan never uttered a word, life apparently being extinct ere the body reached the floor.

Coroner DeLin was notified of the tragic event, and on reaching the scene, proceeded to hold an inquest. The following persons were summoned to serve as jurors: Joseph R. Wiley, S. K. Mayers, John Finnen, Thos. A. Jordan, John Kennedy, Wm. Young.

The first witness called was

JAMES J. NOONAN,

Who testified: Age 29 years; reside in Portland; occupation, bartender. I know deceased; his name is John Morgan. I do not know his age; his occupation is that of a saloon keeper. He is a native of Ireland. He came into the saloon about 11 o'clock P. M. He appeared in his natural mind; he has been under the influence of liquor for three or four days; he pitched up his pistol and was fooling with it behind the bar; I said to him, "Johnny, lay it (the pistol) down and don't fool with it, you don't want it to-night." (The pistol was here produced and shown to the judge. It was a single barrel derringer.) He told me to go from behind the bar, and I walked out. Just as I got to the end of the bar I heard the shot. I was about eight feet from him a, the time the shot was fired. I turned around and saw him fall. He never spoke after the shot. I never heard him say he was going to take his life.

J. HUGHES

Was next called, who, being sworn, testified as follows: Age 32, occupation laborer; I know deceased; I saw him alive last about minutes before 11 o'clock; he called me to the bar; I could not understand him plainly; he had a ball cold and made the remark that he would not live long; he was under the influence of liquor; I did not see him when the pistol went off; Dan Collins saw him when the pistol was discharged.

DAN COLLINS

Was called and testified: Residence, Portland; occupation, shoemaker; age, 29 years; I saw him alive last about a quarter to 11 o'clock this (Saturday) evening; I saw him come into the room and sit down back of the stove; he went to the end of the bar and spoke to Mr. Noonan; I saw him go to the bar and Mr. Noonan spoke to him; I did not hear the conversation; I saw him put something into his mouth: I thought it was a bottle; he stood sideways to me; the next thing I heard a shot go off and saw him fall; I did not know he had a pistol until I heard the shot.

MR. WALTON

Was sworn and testified: I know deceased; saw him alive about five minutes after 11 o'clock; saw him behind the bar in his saloon; I saw a pistol in his hand, and he seemed to be blowing into the muzzle, preparing to load it, as I thought; he seemed to be acting as if the pistol was empty, and was blowing through it; I heard the pistol and saw him fall. (Witness recognized the pistol which was here produced.) It closely resembles the one deceased had in his hand.

DR. A. D. ELLIS

Was sworn and testified: I am a physician, and have examined the body of the deceased, and find that he came to his death from the effect of a gunshot wound, the ball entering the roof of his mouth, passing obliquely through the left lobe of the brain and making its exit in the left side of the head; said wound, in my opinion, produced instant death.

After hearing all the testimony, and duly considering the case, the jury returned the following

VERDICT.

State of Oregon, County of Multnomah—Inquisition taken at saloon corner of Oak and First streets, on the 9th day of March, 1878, before A. P. DeLin, coroner of said county, upon view of the body of John Morgan, then and there lying dead, upon the oath of six good and lawful men of the said county, who being duly summoned and sworn to inquire into all the circumstances attending the death of the said John Morgan, and by whom the same was produced, and in what manner and when and where the said John Morgan came to his death, do say upon the oath aforesaid, deceased's name is John Morgan, native of Ireland, and about 38 years of age, and that whilst under the influence of liquor, deliberately killed himself with a pistol by shooting himself through the head, on the 9th day of March, 1878, in the saloon of deceased, situated on the intersections of First and Oak streets.

JOS. B. Wiley, foreman, S. K. Mayers, J. Finnen, Thos. A. Jordan, John Kennedy, Wm. Young.

Deceased has resided in Portland for the last ten or twelve years. He was a native of Limerick, Ireland. He came out to this coast when only about 11 years of age. For many years deceased followed the occupation of a miner, working at different times through California, Nevada and Montana. He kept a store for some time near Fort Churchill in Nevada. No possible reason can be assigned for the rash and terrible deed, except on the ground of insanity caused by hard drink. When dead, a check for $900 on the Bank of British Columbia was found on his person, and he is supposed to possess considerable means besides. Some of his friends incline to the opinion that his death may be attributed to an accident; that he was carelessly handling the weapon, not supposing it was loaded, when the fatal shot was discharged. However, from all the circumstances, but little doubt can remain as to the question of motive and intent. His singular conduct warrants the belief that, labboring under a momentary fit of insanity, he took his life. Deceased was a member of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, Portland Hibernian Benevolent Society, an active member of Columbian Engine Co. No. 3, an exempt member of the Portland Fire Department, and also a member of the Workingmen's Club. He leaves two children, his wife having died several years ago. The funeral will take place to-day.

A letter to the Roseburg Plaindealer from the mouth of Rogue river says: Pieces of a wreck discovered on the beach, at different points between here and Port Orford and Cresdent City, tell of many a vessel that will never reach its destination. On the 17th of last month the hull of a large vessel was seen bottom up off the mouth of the river. It was about two miles out, and appeared to be at anchor, as it retained its position all day. There was a gale at night, and the wreck was lost from sight until the 19th, when it was drifted ashore, 15 miles above this place, and proved to be the Johannd M. Brock, of San Francisco. On the same day the body of a man was found on the beach about two miles above here, and Coroner Cunningham held an inquest over the body, and had it interred. He is supposed to be one of the sailors belonging to the wreck.

HIS CERTIFICATE WRITTEN A MONTH AFTER TREATMENT.

FOREST GROVE, Feb. 20, 1878.

To whom it may concern: I wish to state that about four years ago last fall I became partially paralyzed in the middle fingers of my left hand. About one year after the same fingers of the right hand became similarly afflicted, which affliction continued to extend up my arms, and in about three years reached my shoulders, but did not prevent me from laboring, but during the fourth year annoyed me very much; and finally the disease formed a connection between my shoulders with death like coldness, and in December last the same sensations set in in my feet, which extended up my legs into my hips. On the 9th of January last I visited Dr. C. M. Wood, magnetic physician, of Portland, and after receiving assurances of relief, I submitted and after receiving nineteen treatments at his hands I was discharged, and now feel that I am entirely relieved of these symptoms and, in fact, I feel that I am in better health now than I have been in twelve years. Respectfully,

T. M. HINES.

MONDAY MORNING, MARCH 11, 1878.

ALBANY AND LEBANON MAIL ROUTE.

A CHANGE OF SCHEDULE, WHICH RETARDS THE MAILS—WHOSE JOB IS IT?

LEBANON, March 8, 1878.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In behalf of a very large number of citizens who are dependent upon Lebanon and Sweet Home postoffices for their mail we beg to call the attention of THE OREGONIAN to an outrage sought to be perpetrated on us, as we believe, by Postal Agent Steel, and the connivance, if not direct interference of Senator Mitchell.

Since the establishment of a daily mail line between Albany and this point some two or three years ago, up to the present time, our citizens, farmers, mechanics and business men have had no just cause of complaint as the mails under the care of the present energetic contractor Mr. Wm. B. Donaca, reached us faithfully and punctually every evening, Sundays excepted, at 5 o'clock, thus enabling us to read the Portland dailies regularly on the day of publication. And the residents of Sweet Home valley under the care of the same contractor received their Portland and county weeklies on the day after publication. Every one interested was well pleased with the schedule adopted by the postoffice department for the arrival and departure of the mails as under no other could mail matter be received or forwarded more expeditiously; connecting as it does with the trains running north and south on the Oregon and California railroad.

The present schedule time, so eminently judicious and, satisfactory, and which will be in force to July 1, 1878, is as follows:

Leave Lebanon daily, except Sunday, at 7 A. M.
Arrive at Albany by 11 A. M.
Leave Albany daily except Sunday, at 1 P. M.
Arrive at Lebanon at 5 P. M.
Leave Lebanon Saturday at 8 A. M.
Arrive at Sweet Home by 12 M.
Leave Sweet Home Saturday at 1 P. M.
Arrive at Lebanon by 7 P. M.

Upon the publication of Postmaster General Keys' advertisement of Nov. 1, 1877, inviting proposals for carrying the mails from July 1, 1878, to June 30, 1882, our community were indignant to find the schedule time of the route, under consideration changed as follows:

Route 44,129.—From Albany by Lebanon, Sodaville and Waterloo to Sweet Home, 34 miles and back, six times a week, between Albany and Lebanon, 14 miles, and once a week the residue.

Leave Albany, except Sunday, at 3 A. M.
Arrive at Lebanon by 12 M.
Leave Lebanon daily, except Sunday, at 12 M.
Arrive at Albany as P. M., and the Sweet Home schedule the same as at present.

Making the point of departure from Albany at 3 A. M. precludes the possibility of our getting the Portland dailies until the following day, thus virtually rendering them comparatively worthless as news. Important commercial news and correspondence will likewise be delayed; virtually reducing us once more to a tri-weekly mail, although government proposes to pay for daily service.

The Portland weeklies are published on Friday and reach Albany at 12 M. on the same day, Lebanon at 5 P. M., and Sweet Home at 12 M. on the next day. Under the new schedule the mail matter for Sweet Home, reaching Albany at noon on Friday will not leave Albany until Saturday at 9 A. M. and will arrive at Sweet Home on the following Saturday at 12 M., making just one week's difference over the present arrangement.

The outrage does not end here. It appears that in the award of contracts for carrying the mails on this route, as announced in THE OREGONIAN of the 22 inst., a certain figurehead who has acted as a kind of scrub about at the railroad depot for the past four years has been the successful bidder at $900 per annum.

The present contractor, who has been as punctual as clockwork for the past four years, and who can give security in the sum of $10,000 if necessary, also put in a bid on this route for the sum of $700 per annum, and did not get it. We have a right to ask that this matter be thoroughly investigated. We demand of Postal Agent Steel his reason for changing the schedule time on this route, and we feel sure that Mr. Senator Mitchell can, if he will, explain why the figurehead at the depot was preferred $200 per annum over Mr. Donaca's bid.

VINDEX.

GLIMPSES OF LINCOLN.

[From Ramsdell's Lecture, by Noah Brooks, Scribner for March.]

So much has been written about Lincoln's private life and personal habits, that it seems unnecessary now to add more than a word. He was simple in all his tastes; liked old songs and old poetry. He was always neatly, but not finically dressed. He disliked gloves, and once I saw him extract seven or eight pairs of gloves from an overcoat pocket, where they had been thrust after having been furnished him by Mrs. Lincoln. Usually he drank tea and coffee at the table, but he preferred milk, or cold water. Wine was never on the table at the White House, except when visitors, other than familiar friends, were present. The president's glass was always filled; he usually touched it to his lips. Sometimes he drank a few swallows, but never a whole glass, I should say. His was a cordial and affable, and his simple-hearted manners made a strong impression upon those who met him for the first time. I have known impressionable women, touched by his sad face and his gentle hearing, to go away in tears. Once I found him sitting in his chair so collapsed and weary that he did not look up or speak when I addressed him. He put out his hand, as if to shake hands, when I told him I had come at his bidding. It was several minutes before he was roused enough to say that he "had had a mighty hard day." Once, too, at a reception in the White House, I joined the long "queue" of people, shook hands with him, received the usual "Glad to see you, sir," and passed on. Later in the evening, meeting me, he declared that he had not seen me before, and explained his preoccupation of manner while the people were shaking hands with him by saying that he was "thinking of a man down south." It afterward came out that "the man down south" was Sherman. Once when a visitor used profane language in his presence, he rose and said: "I thought Senator O. has sent me a gentleman. I was mistaken. There is the door, and I wish you good-night." At another time, a delegation from a distant state called on him with a written protest against certain appointments. The paper contained some reflections upon the character of Senator Baker, Lincoln's old and beloved friend. With great dignity, the president said, "This is my paper which you have given me?" Assured that it was, he added, "To do with as I please?" Certainly, Mr. President." Lincoln stooped to the fire place behind him, laid it on the burning coals, turned and said, "Good day, gentlemen."

THE LABORERS' "FAMILY QUARREL."

PORTLAND, March 9, 1878.

It is well known in this vicinity that A. C. Edmunds, editor of the Labor World, claims to be the leader in labor reform here in Oregon; but by what authority, is unknown. Recently a rumor has been circulated that Mr. Edmunds has cut off from fellowship an organization of laboring men, of this city, and in order that the public may know the facts as they are, we will say that Mr. Edmunds assumed so much authority and dictation that at last, finding it unbearable, we preferred charges against him, put him upon trial, proved him guilty, and by a large majority vote expelled him from all affiliation with us. After this he informed us that he had cut us off as an organization, and issued circulars threatening to notify other labor organizations that we had been thus summarily disposed of, so as to debar us from all communication with our brother laborers. We also hear that he intends getting a few persons to join him in getting up another organization here, and thus make it appear that his little ring represents the hundreds of laboring men in Portland. Our brothers throughout the state should know these facts and regulate their acts accordingly.

WORKINGMEN.

The So-Called Relief Law-Making.

[From the Vicksburg Herald.]

There is nothing so pernicious as nineteen-tenths of the so-called relief law-making of the present era. In this state we do not believe that a general law of this kind was ever enacted that did not work evil instead of good. It has gone on to such an extent that a portion of the citizens of the state have habituated themselves to look to the state for aid in all cases of distress.

THE RAINIER SHOOTING AFFRAY.

STEPHENSON'S ACCOUNT OF THE MATTER—HE IS "TOO POOR TO RECEIVE JUSTICE," AND THEREFORE AS REPOSSE IN A FOREIGN CITY OF REFUGE.

VICTORIA, B. C., March 6, 1878.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I was the chief actor in the Rainier shooting affray of February 23, 1878. As I learned that I had been advertised (and $150 reward offered for my capture) as an escaped criminal, I trust to your love of fair play to be heard in my own defense. I am a poor homesteader, living on the Coweman river, Cowlitz county, W. T. Like most other citizens on the Coweman, I put in a few logs to sell—the principal source of our living. Our logs can be run down the Coweman only in the winter. We boom them down near the mouth of the river, where we are often obliged to leave them, for months before rafting and selling. Our boom is frequently cut and logs taken without our knowledge or consent, by a class of men who care a habit name. By accident I discovered a lot of our logs going to Rainier, sold to D. Blanchard. I followed them over there, and told Mr. B. the facts in the case. I then interviewed a justice of the peace and asked how I could have the guilty party dealt with. The justice of the peace cited me back to D. Blanchard, assuring me that B. would help and give me all needed information. Mr. B. seemed to discredit my story—said the man had been to him to sell the logs two months before. That is very like you as that class of speculators generally look out a market before "investing." I said the party that had taken the logs two or three times on the streets, and was insulted every time by him. I avoided a quarrel, and went back to the Island on the north side of the river, and sent other men who were owners of the logs taken, word of what was going forward. The next morning I started to Kalama to see the sheriff, and went back to have the party punished. On the way I stopped at Rainier to inspect the logs more particularly so as to be certain in my statements. I had about two hours' time before the boat was due. I called on Mr. B anchard, told him what I was going to do, and asked him how the man could be secured until a proper requisition could be had from the governor. Blanchard was still incredulous as to the criminality of the man who sold him the logs—"N. B stolen logs can be sold for $3 per thousand." In short, Mr. B. said I could not have him arrested unless I could get some citizen of Oregon to vouch for me. The logs at this time were alongside of Blanchard's boom. I stepped on them alone to inspect them closely. Before I was done, Marvin (the party who had taken them from our boom) came on the wharf, close by and said, "Stevenson, what authority have you on that raft?" I told him it was none of his business. Whereupon he ordered me to get off "d—d quick," or he would put me off. I invited him to do so. He said he would; calling me a name and using language not fit for decent ears to hear, and rushed off for his boarding house. Supposing him after arms, I left the raft and went up toward Blanchard's store. Marvin soon came back from the boarding house and entered the store. In a few minutes he came out in company with Mr. B., who had his book and log scale in his hand going toward the boom. They passed me without a word, and Marvin again insulted me and wanted to fight me "any way" I chose, as he put it. I assured him I desired no quarrel with him, and started with the party to go to the boom, to see after my interest in the logs. Marvin still continued his abuse, got before me again as we were passing through the sawmill, shook his fist in my face, heaping upon me the most abusive language. I told him I did not want any trouble with him, and tried to pass him; but he crowded himself before me, squared to strike me, having carried his hand behind him two or three times as if for weapons. He challenged me again and again to fight "any way I damned pleased" to. They appeared to pay out of the difficulty but to fight or run! I drew a small revolver and seeing he did not follow suit I turned the pistol across his face and fired, purposely not hitting him. He followed to give track until I cocked the revolver again, when he turned to run, when I again fired, grazing the side of his head just as I meant to do. He stated in his evidence that I tried to shoot him the third time, which was not true. He stated also that I drew the revolver when he first accosted me on the raft. His subsequent conduct and testimony has sufficiently refuted that part of his story. I was arrested by Dean Blanchard in less than a minute after the shooting and disarmed. I was taken before the justice of the peace and examined. They were two days taking testimony; and they made a fearful case against me. Everybody in Rainier seemed possessed with the idea that I had another errand in Rainier but to murder the man, and all the witnesses refused to tell anything that did not tend to prove that view of the case.

When they were done insulting me and fixing up their testimony, they sent me off to Kelsos with the bond fixed "$1,000 as to the amount of bail! The sheriff took charge of me, and said he would have to send me to Portland to jail. I begged to be allowed the rights of an American citizen—to be released on bail, or at least to try to give bail. The sheriff marched me off down the streets to a lawyer. The lawyer told him to send me back to the justice of the peace at Rainier and let him finish the bonds. I was sick of the whole affair by this time, and begged the sheriff to think of some other plan. He could no nothing else, he said. "Well, then, which one if you want to," said I, and ran off. Now, Mr. Editor, you may know why I left and do not wish to stand a trial. I am too poor to receive justice. I have committed no crime, but it would cost more than all I own in this world to stand a trial. If a true statement of the case could be had, I am by no means afraid of a verdict of a jury of my countrymen. Yours respectfully,

THOS. E. STEPHENSON.

New York Freights and Markets.

NEW YORK, March 8.—The freight market remains rather quiet except for certain classes of light such as dry goods, glassware, etc. of which there is fair movement, but of solid weight there is scarcely any and rates are easier. Shipowners are more disposed to send vessels to California in the absence of other business and all the lines are now well supplied. Steamer freights are not very active though a fair amount for the California market has been picked up. The steamer Clyde has been put in the berth in place of the Colon, which vessel is said by sort of people, having been a steady for nearly two years, an I must be overhauled.

Rail road freights show a falling off, notwithstanding the dullness by other routes.

Markets dull and nominal in many cases. Flour, dull and steady; wheat opened at a slight advance, but with the absence of a demand, steady at $1 02 @5; Rio coffees, quiet; holders firmer; refined sugars, nearly, but less active; teas dull and irregular, holders not pressing stocks; hides quiet and firm at late advance; leather dull, prices weak. Callfornia, 20@21; petroleum dull, unchanged; spirits turpentine quiet, 38½; wool dull, but a more cheerful feeling pervades the market. Pacific Coast meets moderate demand, sales, 8,000 lbs fall, 16@20, 1,000 lbs spring, 20.

English Grain Markets.

LIVERPOOL, March 8.—Leading grain circulars say the grain markets continue dull, and with few exceptions a shilling cheaper. On spot, business has been inanimate since Tuesday with a tendency toward lower prices. Floating trade almost without attention. Corpses are generally held above the ideas of buyers. Maize slow, but not cheap for per lot. Corn—at this market to day there was very limited business, sellers were willing to concede a decline of one shilling to two shillings per central, but prices were irregular. Flour salable only at retail at a reduction of six pence to a shilling per sack. Corn was three pence to six pence cheaper, but little was doing.

Philadelphia Wool Market.

PHILADELPHIA, March 8.—Wool quiet; prices easier; sales light; Pacific coast fine and medium, 20@33c; do coarse, 24@27.

DR. P. M. BRENAN.

His Wonderful Success

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

Chronic and Difficult Diseases.

He has astonished the People of this Coast by his skilful Operations.

HE HAS TAUGHT IN HIS

public and private lectures the true principles of health and how to both prevent and cure disease. He has also warned them against habits that would be likely to produce disease, in plain and comprehensive language. But where he has found them crushed and broken down by disease, mentally and physically, he has restored them to health and happiness, for it is well understood that without health there can be no happiness.

DR. BRENAN

has made a specialty in the treatment of the following diseases: Catarrh, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the throat and chest, by an entirely new system only known to himself. Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs, Impotency, Spermatorrhœa, Semi-Impotency, Nervousness, premature loss of Manhood. In the treatment of these diseases he has made a world wide reputation by his astonishing success, not only on this Coast but throughout the whole United States. Diseases of the stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys as well as all diseases of the blood and skin he has become master of, and never fails to give relief at once, and permanently cure the case if he is applied to in time.

THE DOCTOR HAS GIVEN SPECIAL ATTENTION to ladies only for years and is perfectly familiar with all female complaints, and understands their delicate and refined organization, as well as the proper remedies which should be used to bring about permanent health and restore to perfect health.

THE DOCTOR HAS THIS ADVANTAGE

over most physicians—he can tell the patients' disease the moment he comes in contact with them without any aid from the individual. This account is for you, and is the great professional success

All surgical operations can be performed by his skilful hand, and the patient need no fear the result.

will send to those living at a distance and who cannot well visit his office a list of Printed Questions and by the answers when filled out he can tell the disease as well as the proper treatment; almost as well as seeing the patient personally, and will forward the proper medicines, or instruments, to any part of the country with full instructions and advice. Each letter requiring advice or list of questions must contain $10, money order.

Everything strictly confidential and honorable.

THE DOCTOR

has studied in the best Medical Schools in Europe and three years in the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia, as more than one graduate of the Medical men of the Medical Faculty in this State can testify.

CAUTION.

Persons coming to Portland, requiring medical treatment of the proper kind, who desire to consult with me, will please beware of parties who may try to coax them away to other so-called doctors, through pretended friendship for the patients. Look out for them; they are knaves, prompted by selfish motives and what they can realize. Be sure and ask for DR. P. M. BRENAN, the Medical Lecturer, and read his sign on his door, Room No. 9, Corbett's Block, over O'Connor's Store, corner of Front and Washington streets.

WE WILL ALSO KEEP CONSTANTLY on hand for sale, an almost sure cure for Piles in their worst forms, and a sure cure for Dyspepsia. I defy competition of these two diseases; can give almost immediate relief, and cure if our directions are strictly followed. To say that any human being can cure Piles and they shall never return, would be more than any person outside the Almighty ought to venture to assert. I do not profess to be able to do that. But I do know from thirty years of my own experience and of trials of many others of both sexes, that my prescription has come the nearest to perfection of any thing ever offered the public, and in some of the most inveterate cases. I cannot just now go into any lengthy propositions on this subject, but will offer a few hints for the consideration of those troubled with this annoying disease. I hold that postponing the demands of nature to evacuate is a prolific cause, most especially in ores and unmarried persons in business; say, is it not next to impossible for the clerk, the merchant, the seamstress, &c., to answer nature's calls promptly? This soon becomes a terrible case. Then comes on costiveness; next you take drastic purges and the unavoidable consequence is you have aggravated, not soothed nor healed; you have neither supplied the lubricated parts with natural moisture nor a comforter; you have left them irritated more or less, to go through the same routine over and over again, until you have no rest; anon comes a train of diseases, you do not know why; you have a wornout look because you have not had rest enough. Tell us, will you, how much needless suffering you undergo in one year. I hold, too, that Dyspepsia is another cause of Piles; gulping your food helps to cause Dyspepsia. We could go on, page upon page, and your own common sense would convince you how much you lose and suffer, by the ridicule this disease has cast on it, and has generated others. I offer these hints and facts for your reflection, you who suffer. And we offer you cures and comforters at a price so low that every sufferer can afford them. Their use is simple and effective. They cause no necessity for any suspension of your daily avocations; they cause no inconvenience. Results are sure, and they generally prove a blessing to you, and you will say so; but you must follow the simple directions strictly, which are enclosed in every package. Try them and you will be satisfied. I have no lack of testimonials to offer. I stand on the sterling virtues of what I offer you you will say well done, when you feel the comfort after a very short trial. Pile and Dyspepsia Remedies $1.25 per package, each; for sale at present only at my office, Southeast corner Corbett and Porter streets, Portland. Office hours 10 to 12 A. M.; 2 to 4 P. M.
